"The Soviet authorities have started to call home many Soviet experts who have been supervising work in the Polish industry. This action began this past summer /1954/. This action concerns those experts who have been working in factories which do not work for export to the USSR or for the Polish armament industry. So, for example, the Soviet experts from the Gdansk shipyard have been called back to the USSR while those experts who have been attached to the shipyard of Odynia are remaining since this shipyard builds ships for the USSR."
